At page 16, line 8, insert the following paragraph:

Turning now to figures 6a and 6b, the general steps in providing a service to a device through a transport is shown. The primary interface, such as the IOBEX interface is provided. As previously described, the primary interface has commands to enumerate transports and to enumerate devices. The transport interface, such as IOBEXTransport, IOBEXTransportSocket, and IOBEXTransportConnection is provided for communicating with the transports. A service interface, such as IOBEXService and IOBEXServiceConnection, is provided to determine when an incoming connection arrives and accepting the incoming connection. Once connected, a device interface, such as IOBEXDevice, is provided for communicating with the device.
